Data Opus

Data Dictionaries in Minutes

Current, auditable, accurate, and interoperable

Automating data dictionaries provides organizations more time to focus on the tasks that matter - Database Resiliency.

Key benefits

- Increases data integrity / quality
- Decreases engineering time
- Reduces bugs, risks, and issues
- Enhances communication
- Streamline data integration
- Reduces cost to create by 99%
- Faster data discovery
- Escalates scalability
- Exportable (CSV, Excel, JSON)

Supports

- AI-readiness
- Data-readiness
- Compliance
- Data governance
- Data integrations
- APIs
- Standards
- Client engagements
- Business glossaries

Data Opus

Drag a column here to group by this column.

Enter text to search

Schema	Table	Column	Description	Data Type	Keys	Default	Required	Constraint
Contains:	Contains	Contains	Contains	Contains	Contains	Contains	Contains	Contains
Clients	People	PersonID		INT	PK identity		Y
Clients	People	FirstName	Person's first name	NVACHAR(100)			Y
Clients	People	LastName	The last name or surname of an individual	NVACHAR(100)			Y
Clients	People	DateOfBirth	The birth date of the individual	DATE			Y
Clients	People	Gender	The gender of the individual	NVACHAR(10)			N	([Gender]= 'Other'OR [Gender]...
Clients	People	Phone	Contact number associated with the person	NVACHAR(20)			N
Clients	People	Email	The email address of the person	NVACHAR(100)		('NULL')	N
Clients	People	Language	Written or spoken languages	NVACHAR(30)		('English')	N
Clients	People	CreatedAt	The date and time when the record was created	DATETIME		(getdate())	N
Clients	People	UpdatedAt	The date and time when the record was last updated	DATETIME		(getutcdate())	N
Clients	People	PersonID	Unique identifier for each record in the table	INT	PK identity		Y
Clients	People	FirstName	The first name of an individual	NVACHAR			Y
Clients	People	LastName	The last name or surname of and individual	NVACHAR			Y

info@dataopus.us
www.dataopus.us

680 S Cache Street
Suite 100-14672
Jackson, WY 83001